St. John's University.

Foundation and early History.

THE FOUNDATION of St. John's University dates back to March 6., 1857, on which date the then territorial Legislature of Minnesota granted a charter, constituting the Order of St. Benedict a body corporate and politic, and authorizing it to establish "St. John's Seminary." The Seminary was opened near St. Cloud, Nov. 10. 1857, with an attendance of four pupils. Rev. Cornelius Wittmann, O. S. B., was its first professor. The buildings were destroyed by fire Feb. 20., 1866, and it was determined to locate on the present site. Accordingly in 1866 the cornerstone of the "old stone house," the first substantial school building west of Minneapolis, was laid by Rt. Rev. Bishop Thomas L. Grace of St. Paul.

Very Revs. Demetrius de Marogna, Cornelius Wittmann, Benedict Haindl, Othmar Wirz, Wolfgang Northmann and Rt. Rev. Rupert Seidenbush, late Bishop of St. Cloud, in the order mentioned, stood at the head of the institution during the first eighteen years of its existence. In 1875 Rt. Rev. Abbot Alexius Edelbrock assumed the presidency. He soon after erected the present vast series of buildings and thoroughly equipped the various departments, making St. John's the largest educational institution in the Northwest. In 1869 the Legislature granted authority to confer all university degrees. By an act of Legislature, approved Feb. 17., 1883, the name of St. John's Seminary was changed to that of St. John's University. By a special Decretum of June 16., 1878, Pope Leo XIII., now gloriously reigning, empowered the President of the University, Rt. Rev. Alexius Edelbrock, and his successors in office, to create such of his subjects who, after studying Philosophy two years, Theology four years, and Canon Law one year, are found worthy, Doctors in Philosophy, Theology and Canon Law, conferring on them the same and all faculties and privileges as enjoyed by those who have graduated in Rome or any Papal University.

Rt. Rev. Abbot Edelbrock resigned in Dec. 1889 and was succeeded by the present Abbot, Rt. Rev. Bernard Locnikar, D. D., who retains the presidency of the institution.

The present year will witness the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the erection of the Abbey and location of the University on its present site. It will mark an epoch in the history of Education in the Northwest.

Location.

St. John's University is located 85 miles west of St. Paul, 12 miles west of the flourishing city of St. Cloud and 1½ miles south of Collegeville, a station on the Great Northern Railway. It is beautifully situated on the banks of one of the most romantic and most charming lakes of Minnesota. The beauty of the natural scenery surrounding the University is unsurpassed. To the front and left there is a stately forest; a sheet of water, covering 400 acres, surrounded by woodland and studded with a number of pretty islands, spreads out to the right. In the rear another sheet of water, the Watab, lake and creek, adds to the scenic effect. "No better location could be desired," is the unanimous verdict of visitors.

Accessibility.

The main line of the Great Northern Railway passes through the University grounds at Collegeville, the nearest R. R. station. A conveyance regularly meets the day trains and, upon request, the night trains also. The trains on this road make connections at St. Cloud with St. Cloud & Hinckley, St. Cloud & Wilmar, and Northern Pacific Railroads; at St. Paul and Minneapolis, with all the northern, eastern and southern Roads. Thus situated, it is, of course, easily accessible by all roads connecting with the Great Northern Railway system.

The Buildings

are constructed of brick, are 5 stories high and cover an area of 7000 square yards making them as large as, if not larger than, any in the Northwest. To give an idea of the capacity of the buildings, it will suffice to state, that they can comfortably accommodate 600 students. The portion of the building occupied by students is of recent date, having been finished during the fall of 1886. There are three commodious studyhalls, three dormitories, recitation rooms, a reading room, an exhibition hall, infirmary, chapel and gymnasium,—all equipped for their several purposes. The entire building is heated by steam, and the rooms are all very spacious, high, well lighted and properly ventilated.

The Accommodations

are, in every respect, what can be desired. Studyhalls are pleasant, dormitories spacious and airy, dining rooms neat and inviting; in fact, the buildings are designed with a view to comfort as well as to utility.

Shady and romantic walks, ample playgrounds, and the adjacent lake, with facilities for boating, bathing and fishing in summer and skating in winter, afford any amount of outdoor sport and exercise, while a large playhall furnished with bowling alley etc. and respectable gymnasium, gives the student an opportunity for indoor exercise.

Faculty.

The University is conducted by the Fathers of the Order of St. Benedict, who devote themselves extensively to the education of youth. The faculty is composed of men who have long experience in the professor's chair and are ably seconded by an efficient corps of assistant professors.

Discipline.

The discipline is mild, and though for the observance of order, reasonably strict regulations are necessary, it is intended that these be enforced by moral and religious suasion rather than by severer methods. Good order, courtesy, manly and Christian deportment, punctuality and attentiveness will be insisted upon and their maintenance is generally a matter of pride to the student.

The University is strictly unsectarian, in the sense that students of all denominations are admitted and no one's religious views are interfered with; but for the sake of order, non-catholic students are expected to be present at the common exercises of public worship.

Experience has suggested the adoption of the following

Rules of Discipline.

1. All students are required to attend the daily exercises of public worship. Catholic students are expected to approach the Sacraments once a month.
2. Upon the announcement of any University exercise, every student shall promptly and in silence repair to the discharge of that duty to which he is summoned.
3. The time of recreation excepted, silence is to be observed. Running and boisterous behavior within the University building are at all times strictly, prohibited.

4. Students are expected to keep themselves and whatever they come in contact with, neat and clean. They will not mar, soil or scratch walls, desks, chairs etc., nor are they permitted to indulge in the habit of putting their feet on articles of furniture.
5. Persons injuring desks, chairs, windows, walls or any property belonging to the University or to others, are held responsible for damages.
6. Wearing apparel, such as hats, caps, scarfs, overcoats, overshoes,etc., will not be tolerated in the study hall nor on beds or within the dormitory. Shoes overshoes etc., must be kept in the shoeroom.
7. Students are not permitted to enter private rooms, nor other study-halls than their own.
8. Students are not allowed to leave the prescribed University grounds without permission.
9. The use of tobacco in any form whatever is prohibited. Those, however, who furnish a written request from parents or guardians, are allowed to smoke at certain times and under certain restrictions.
10. Intoxicants are strictly prohibited. Students introducing them are subject to expulsion.
11. All mail matter is subject to inspection by the President or Vice-President of the University.
12. Books, periodicals, papers, or pictures, of questionable morality, are not only prohibited, but will be confiscated and subject the holder to punishment. Students known to be guilty of immoral conduct or conversation are forthwith dismissed, as also those whose conduct is habitually not satisfactory.

Students are admonished to abstain from vulgar language and to conduct at all times pure and edifying conversation. They should endeavor to show due respect and obedience towards their superiors, and Christian charity and politeness towards each other.

A few years would be spent to advantage at the University, if nothing else were learned but to converse and deport oneself with the dignity and propriety of a Christian gentleman. The happiness and no less the improvement of the student is so intimately connected with the good order, and even rigid discipline of the University, that no young gentleman who has at heart his own welfare and the accomplishment of his purpose in entering the institution can fail to discern the importance of a strict observance of the above regulations, and when the Superiors demand compliance with them, they manifestly require of the student nothing more than the promotion of his own interest.

COURSE OF STUDIES.

The courses of study pursued at the University are the Ecclesiastical, Classical, Scientific and Commercial. To meet the exigencies of the times a well regulated Preparatory Course has been established.

Preparatory Course.

Pupils below the age of 14, who are not sufficiently advanced to enter the Classical or Commercial course, are admitted into the Preparatory Department. The course of instruction embraces Christian Doctrine, Spelling, Reading, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Geography, and rudiments of English Grammar; and enables the pupils to acquire a solid foundation for the Commercial, Scientific or Classical Course. The pupils of this course, under the age of 14, are in a separate study hall.

As many worthy men, especially of the farming community, whose early education has been neglected, frequently desire to put in a few of the winter months to acquire a knowledge of the elementary branches ordinarily taught in a preparatory department, we desire to call the attention of these, our

to the facilities St. John's offers them, in the shape of a special class system in which individual instruction is given them in those branches in which they are most deficient. This is done to obviate their attendance in classes with the smaller boys and insures an advancement proportionate to their talents and application. To give such boys of limited means and time an opportunity, we make an exception in their favor to the full term system, and receive them for three or more months at $20 per month.

Scientific Course.

This course embraces Pure and Mixed Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry. Astronomy and Physical Geography. Students devoting themselves specially to any of these branches may also pursue a higher course in Languages. The classical and scientific courses may thus be pursued simultaneously.

A well furnished Laboratory facilitates the study of the physical sciences and access is also granted to the physical cabinet, which contains valuable instruments and numerous specimens from the mineral, vegetable and animal kingdoms.

In 1890 an observatory was fitted up on the summit of the reservoir located on the rising ground east of the University. The spacious cupola houses an equatorial telescope with a 4 inch achromatic lense, from the factory of Fauth & Co., Washington, D. C.

A complete set of surveyors' instruments offers facilities to students of Civil Engineering.

Commercial Course.

The growing importance of this section of our State presses young men into active business life, and they must have ample facilities to obtain a thorough commercial education in the shortest time possible. The Faculty feel confident that they have amply provided for those who desire to qualify themselves for a practical business avocation.

The Commercial Course embraces:

Book-keeping,
Actual Business Practice,
Penmanship,
Commercial Arithmetic,
Grammar,
Commercial Law,
Commercial Correspondence,
Commercial Forms.

All these branches are taught in the Commercial Hall of the University. Instructions in Book-keeping are given to each student individually. Being independent of the progress of others, he can advance as rapidly as his attainments warrant. Students desiring to enter this course are required to pass a preliminary examination in reading, spelling, grammar and arithmetic, to the satisfaction of the Director of Studies and Principal of the Department. The branches above enumerated are obligatory in the course and must not be discontinued without the consent of the Principal.

The text books in use are Musselman's Practical Book-keeping, Clark's Commercial Law and Robinson's Complete Arithmetic. Three hours are daily devoted to Book-keeping proper. Commercial Arithmetic is taught in all its branches. An hour daily is devoted to this important study. Commercial Law is taught two hours and Correspondence one hour weekly.

A series of examinations must be successfully passed before graduation. An opportunity to make an examination is offered every Monday morning. The examinations will be given in the following order:

Theory of Book-keeping,
Journalizing,
Trial Balance, Analysis and Closing Ledger,
Journal and Cash Book,
Advanced Journalizing,
Six-Column Journal,
Lumber Set,
Hardware Set,
Wholesale Set,
Commission Sales Book,
Spelling,
Commercial Law, Correspondence and Forms,
Commercial Calculations.

It cannot with any degree of certainty be determined in what time a student will be able to finish the course.

He may advance as rapidly as his endowments permit and thus has an inducement to intense application.

All examinations must be made in writing. The grade required is 80 p. c. None of these examinations will be dispensed with.

As soon as the student has completed the requisite amount of theoretical work, he will be required to pursue at least one month of Actual Business practice. For this purpose a Bank and Merchandizing house are established in connection with the Department. The student is fitted out with capital and stock and exercises himself in all the various transactions which he will encounter in business.

The period of time spent in this part of the work will be of eminent service of the student, as it supplements the theory in many important points. Merchandise, bills, notes, checks and drafts are handled and the learner becomes conversant with the details of the several transactions.

To further supplement and perfect the knowledge derived from text books, able jurists have offered their services. Judges L. W. Collins, D. B. Searle and Hon. F. E. Searle of St. Cloud, have kindly volunteered to deliver lectures on Commercial Law and incident topics. The institution is deeply indebted to these gentlemen for valuable services in the past.

Upon the completion of the theoretical and practical course the successful student is entitled to the Diploma and degree of Master of Accounts. No Diploma will be granted, however, to students whose conduct is not exemplary.

According to the practice adopted in 1890, Diplomas are issued on Commencement day only. Those who graduate during the schoolyear, will, at their departure from the institution be furnished with a Certificate of Graduation equivalent to a good recommendation. The institution reserves the right of retaining or cancelling the Diploma in the event of discreditable conduct between the time of Graduation and Commencement.

Besides the branches previously enumerated, another inducement not usually met with in business colleges, is offered. Commercial students may take up either the scientific or classical course without additional expense.

The Faculty, satisfied that the facilities they offer are unsurpassed, respectfully invite business men and those intending to commence a business career to consider the opportunities which St. John's Commercial College presents; they purpose to prepare competent business men as quickly and as cheaply as it can be done.

Classical Course.

This course is designed to impart a thorough knowledge of Languages, Ancient and Modern; of Geography, Physical, Political and Mathematical; of History Ancient and Modern; and of Mathematics Pure and Mixed. French, Drawing Painting, Phonography and Music are optional studies.

A solid classical training is the soul of a college education and no young man should fail to embrace this course before he devotes himself to any special branch of study. All promoters of higher education insist upon the necessity of classical training as the chief means of elevating the intellectual standard of the country.

This course embraces six years, at the expiration of which the student finds himself qualified to pursue an advanced course in preparation for any pursuit or for the sacred ministry. The classes are graded on Latin according to the following scheme.

This, together with a report on Deportment and Application, is mailed to parents or guardians of students.

Promotions occur only at the close of the quarter and cannot be made except upon previous examination.

Students of the Classical course may also pursue the study of the French language. The text used is Fasquelle. The various branches of the Scientific Course are also open to them, provided they are sufficiently advanced in the classics.

SPECIAL COURSE OF STUDIES.

Telegraphy.

If not strictly a part of business education, yet a practical knowledge of Telegraphy secures an honorable position to many a young man. A thorough theoretical and practical knowledge of the art will be imparted as far as lies in the power of a school. Two sets of instruments are set up in the University and the details of telegraphing and office work are special objects of attention.

Phonography and Typewriting.

The popularity of these branches as desirable requisites of clerks in the business community has induced us to offer proper facilities to such students as desire to perfect themselves in either branch. The type of instruments used for typewriting are the Remington and Yost. The instruments are furnished by the University. The system of phonography is a modification of Gabelsberger. Either Munson's or Graham's systems will be taught.

Drawing and Painting.

Instruction in Drawing, Freehand and Architectural is imparted from standard models. The department is furnished with a copious supply of Julien's crayon studies, colored studies for pastel, anatomical models, and casts from the antique.

Music.

This department offers first-class facilities. Professors of marked ability and high reputation teach its various branches. A well regulated Choir, a full Orchestra, a choice Quartette, and an excellently trained and well and favorably known Cornet Band of 30 instruments make this Department attractive for the lover of Music.

Piano.—Eight instruments are donated to this branch. Students practice in separate rooms and at special hours and receive individual instruction at hours not interfering with the classes of the course to which they are assigned.

Violin.—Students are required to furnish their own instruments. Individual instruction is given as in Piano. If sufficiently advanced, students may enter the University Orchestra. Lessons will also be given on the Viola, Violoncello and Bass.

This department offers, moreover, opportunities to practice on band instruments of every description, on the organ, guitar, cithern and flute.

Requisites for Degrees.

The degrees conferred in the regular course are the degrees of

Master of Accounts,
Bachelor of Arts,
Master of Arts,
Bachelor of Philosophy.

Candidates for degrees must make a written application to the President of the University. In this application they must state the degree to which they aspire, and the subject upon which they are prepared to be examined. After the approval of such application its terms remain unaltered.

General Regulations.

The Academic year consists of ten months, and is divided into two sessions. The first session begins in the first week of September, and ends January 31st. The second session begins on the first of February and ends in the last week of June.

Students are admitted at any time of the schoolyear; but they consult their own interest who are present at the beginning, as they will have the benefit of an accurate examination, a precise classification and a fair start with their class fellows.

Pupils who enter after the 15 day of November, or who absent themselves for any notable time during the year or who do not return on the day appointed after the Christmas holidays, or who withdraw before the end of the year, have no claim to honors or distinctions for the Academic year.

Students will not be permitted to leave during the school year on visits of any length except at the Christmas and Easter holidays, and then only at the special request of their parents or guardians

Applicants for admission who have not attended another college, if not personally known to some member of the Faculty, must furnish a character certificate from some responsible person; those who have attended another college must produce papers showing their standing in the college they last attended.

After admission a student is examined, and classed according to his attainments. No branch of study can be discontinued without the consent of the Prefect of Studies.

According to age or acquiremets students are ranged into three departments and are in charge of six Prefects.

GENERAL REMARKS.

From the foregoing it will be seen that the advantages in location, accommodations, etc., which St. John's University presents are unsurpassed. The fare is abundant and good. And thus St. John's is enabled to make the students sojourn pleasant and homelike.

Various societies are formed during the scholastic year for practice in declamation, debate, dramatic acting etc. A large and choice library is at the disposal of students.

There are also several athletic clubs, such as Base Ball clubs, Boat clubs, etc., besides gymnastic perquisites, to encourage physical exercise.

Donations to library, museum and cabinet are solicited from friends of the University.

Parents and friends of students are welcome at the University at any time of the year, but it would be preferable to receive them on Wednesdays or Saturdays, because no disturbance is thus created in class work.

Parents are respectfully requested not to order a change in the programme of the studies of their children except after a consultation with the Director of Studies and upon his recommendation. The course of instruction is calculated to advance the students as rapidly as may be done in justice to their powers and intelligence, and promotion or alteration should be left to the judgment of the college authorities.

No specifications will be made as to clothing. Parents are expected to furnish their sons clothing of a quality their condition and means permit. The winters being severe, provisions should be made for warm and durable clothing. Articles of dress may be repaired by the tailor at the institution at the student's expense.

ST. JOHN'S UNIVERSITY.

WITH the close of the present schoolyear this institution has reached the end of the first quarter century of its existence on the present site. Its history is one of pioneer work and is associated with the growth of the State. A sketch of its work will be incomplete without some reference to the history of the body of men whose spirit of enterprise led them to rear the standard of religion and education in Minnesota.

On the restoration of the ancient Benedictine monastery of Metten, Bavaria, in 1830, the late Archabbot Boniface Wimmer († Dec. 8, 1837) became a member of the Order. In 1846, filled with the desire of continuing the grand mission of the Order in the New World, he arrived in the United States and founded a monastery which is now St. Vincent's Abbey, Westmoreland Co., Pennsylvania.

The efficiency of Benedictine missionary work induced the first Bishop of St. Paul, Rt. Rev. Joseph Cretin, in 1856 to apply for aid in the growing missions of Minnesota. In response to this call Abbot Boniface Wimmer sent Father Demetrius Count de Marogna, with two clerics and two lay brothers, to initiate the work of the Order in the West. Subsequently additional forces arrived and, with all of southern and central Minnesota as their field of labor, the monks built up the Church in those regions.

True to the traditions of the Order, however, they were not content with the work of the mission, but soon determined to embark in the work of education. In 1857 a small college was opened at St. Cloud, a charter having been granted by the Territorial Legislature on March 6, 1857. Father Cornelius Wittmann was the first professor and at the outset had to be "contentus paucis lectoribus". The buildings were destroyed by fire in 1866.

The community had previous to this time possessed and cultivated a farm near the present station of Collegeville. Thence they removed deeper into the forest and selected a site on the elevated shores of a beautiful lake which they named after the royal patron of the Benedictine enterprise, Louis of Bavaria. A frame building was reared at first and next rose an edifice of granite boulders, the corner stone of which was laid in July 1866. The monastery of St. Louis on the Lake was then presided over by the late Father Benedict Haindl († April 11, 1887.)

The community had grown to such an extent that in 1867 it was raised to the dignity of an Abbey and its first Abbot, Father Rupert Seidenbusch, was summoned from the mother house, St. Vincent's Abbey, of which he then was Prior. In the fall of the same year the college was opened. The first President was the late Father Wolfgang Northman († Feb. 8, 1876), and Father Alexius Edelbrock — subsequently Abbot —was the first Vice President.

An act of the State Legislature, approved March 5, 1869, empowered the institution to confer all university degrees.

In 1873 Father Alexius Edelbrock succeeded in the Presidency and Father Bernard Locnikar — the present Abbot and President — assisted him as Vice President. Father Ulric Northman († Jan 21, 1890) was appointed Vice President in 1874 and retained this responsible position until 1885 when he was succeeded by Father Chrysostom Schreiner. The latter resigned his position in January, 1891, and was succeeded by the present incumbent.

Abbot Rupert Seidenbusch was chosen in 1875 for episcopal honors and was consecrated as titular Bishop of Halia, while his field of labor was Northern Minnesota and Dakota. He was succeeded by Abbot Alexius Edelbrock, who had filled the position of President since 1873 and who during the fifteen years of his administration ever had in view the advancement and perfection of the educational undertaking.

A flourishing ecclesiastical Seminary had been conducted in connection with the college since its organization. On June 16, 1878, Pope Leo XIII empowered the President of the institution — the Abbot of the monastery — to create such of his subjects who after studying Philosophy two years, Theology four years and Canon Law one year are found worthy, Doctors in Philosophy, Theology and Canon Law, conferring on them the same and all faculties and privileges which are enjoyed by those who have graduated in Rome or in any Papal University.

By an act of Legislature, approved February 17, 1883, the institution, hitherto known as St. John's Seminary, or popularly St. John's College, was raised to the dignity of a University.

Abbot Alexius Edelbrock resigned the abbatial dignity in December, 1889, and a successor was chosen May 7, 1890, in the person of Abbot Bernard Locnikar who is at the head of the extensive work at the close of the first epoch.

The Benedictine Order sees the accomplishment of its divine mission in the evangelization and education of peoples; its labors are disinterested. The work of the Order has been witnessed by the world in these parts for more than three decades, and the success that has thus far accompanied it, is a token of the blessing of Heaven on a work undertaken for the honor of God and benefit of man.

LOCATION.

In their anxiety to seek solitude the monks have never lost sight of the fact that the beauty of nature throws a charm over life and elevates the heart. St. John's enjoys an extremely romantic location on the northern shores of a silvery lake which nestles in the bosom of the forests and is the home of a variety of fish. Picturesque islands, on one of which stands a small brick chapel, enhance the native beauty of the scene. West of the buildings flows the Watab, "the lovely and lonely Watab, on whose banks the poet or painter might love to wander, and there catch the inspiration under the influence of which is imparted to book or canvas a living power that holds our sense captive. The solemn, yet harmonious grandeur of nature's wild but always exquisite creation, which gems the vale through which the Watab gently glides, is not excelled by the sylvan beauties of the Peneus," as a poetic admirer said twenty years ago. In all directions, to the utmost horizon, the eye meets an unbroken range of forest.

The University is located in the town of Collegeville, 85 miles from St. Paul, 12 miles from St. Cloud and 1½ miles south of Collegeville station on the Great Northern railway line. A conveyance from the University meets the regular day trains and is at the service of visitors. The trains of the road make connections at St. Cloud with the St. Cloud & Hinckley, St. Cloud & Wilmar and Northern Pacific Railroad.

The location is not merely pleasant, but healthful, far removed from the malarial swamps or smokey districts. The health of no student is jeopardized here. The facility of obtaining out-door recreation is an incentive to preserve the harmonious balance of mind and body. Shady and romantic walks, ample play grounds, the lake with its facilities for boating, fishing and bathing in sommer and skating in winter afford an amount of sport the most fastidious cannot reasonably despise.

THE BUILDINGS

with the exception of the first structure are of brick and form an immense quadrangle, including a church. The entire frontage of the buildings facing east and west is 360 feet; north and south 260 feet. The buildings are five stories high and cover an area of 7000 square yards. The north and west wings are devoted exclusively to school uses. This portion is of comparatively recent date, having been finished in the fall of 1886. The basement contains the kitchen, dining room and a spacious gymnasium with bowling alley, Indian clubs, dumb-bells, chest expanders, turning pole, striking bag etc., intended chiefly for the cold season. Study halls for the Junior and Commercial classes are located on the first floor, also a circulating library of 2000 volumes. A study hall for the Senior classes, also a series of eight rooms for music practice, occupy the greater part of the second floor. An ample concert hall with well-furnished stage is on the third floor, and dormitories and trunk rooms are on the upper floor. There is morever an infirmary, dispensary, physical cabinet, laboratory, art room and seven recitation rooms, a reading room and photographic gallery. All the rooms are airy and well arranged for ventilation. Comfort is furnished in winter by a plant of five boilers situated 400 feet from the buildings. The rooms are all fully equipped for their respective purposes and nothing is spared to render them as completely adequate as can be done.

During the past year two of the older wings have been thoroughly overhauled, the roof has been remodelled and a new story gained.

The church has received a notable improvement in the shape of a $3500 pipe organ, built by W. Schuelke of Milwaukee and blessed December 16, 1891. The instrument has 24 stops, about 1400 pipes and the motive power of the bellows is a Tuerk water motor.

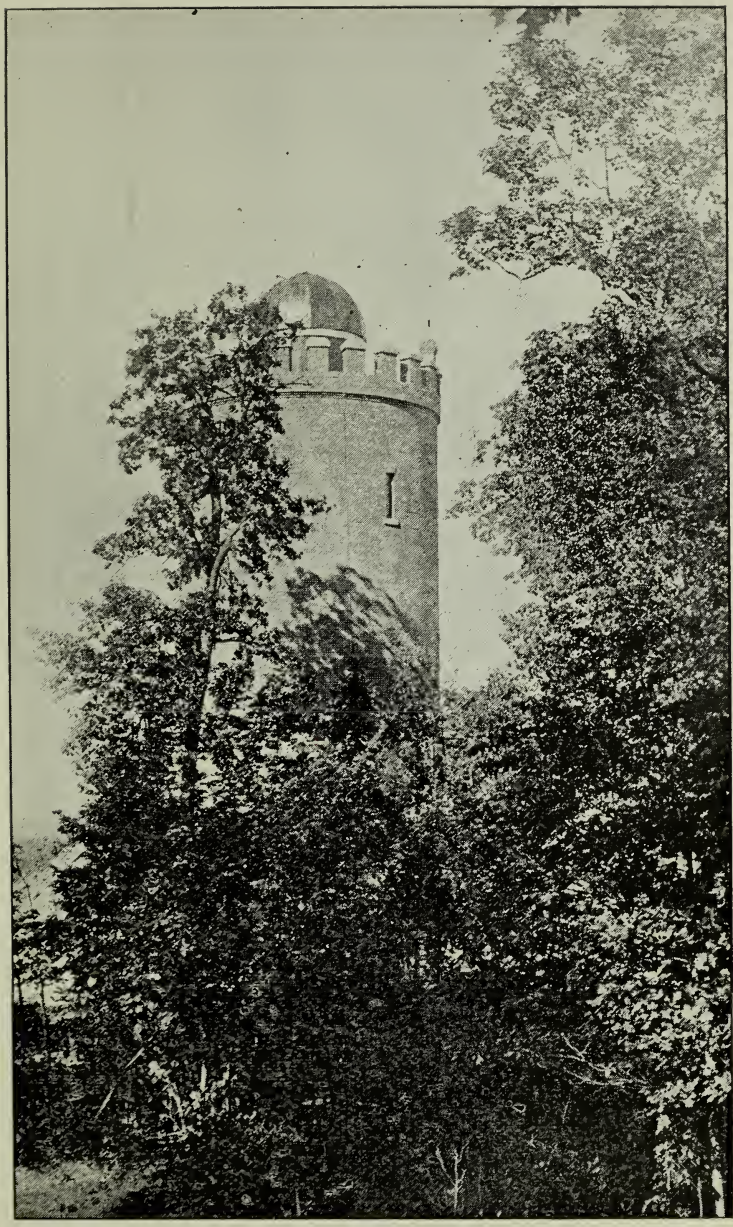
THE ACCOMMODATIONS

are, in every respect, what can be desired in a boarding school. As has been said the rooms are airy; they are, moreover, spacious and pleasant, well heated and kept in order. Owing to these facts the student is never at a disadvantage while studying; there are no dingy, cheerless rooms, but all are bright and comfortable. All modern improvements, such as closets, bath rooms etc. are within the main building. The refectory is a commodious hall capable of seating all the students at one meal, and the fare, although plain, is abundant and healthful. All the surroundings favor physical development. Sickness is rare and when cases do occur, medical attendance is close at hand.

Provisions have also been adopted against fire. Standpipes and hose have been placed in several quarters of the house, and the strong pressure of the water stored in an elevated tank containing 2200 bbls. will do service in an emergency.

THE FACULTY.

The University is conducted by Fathers and clerics of the Abbey. The management of the educational work is in the hands of the Vice President and the Director of Studies. The disciplinary work is in the hands of the Prefect and assistant in each of the departments — Junior, Senior and Commercial. The students, whether in class or at recreation, are subject to supervision at all times. The staff consists of twenty one professors and assistants. Some of the ablest lawyers, two of whom occupy high judicial positions, have volunteered to lecture in the Commercial course on kindred topics. The institution is under obligations of gratitude to these gentlemen.



THE OBSERVATORY.

THE DISCIPLINE

is mild, and although for the observance of order, reasonably strict regulations are necessary, it is intended that these be enforced by moral and religious suasion rather than by severer methods. Good order, courtesy, manly and Christian deportment, punctuality and attentiveness will be insisted upon and their maintenance ought to be a matter of pride to the student.

Since the institution is conducted by a Catholic religious body, religion and its practices enter intimately into the daily life of the student. For the sake of order, non-catholic students are obliged to assist at all exercises of public worship, but not at religious instruction.

Students contemplating entrance will do well to carefully peruse the following Rules of Discipline, the adoption of which long experience has suggested. Minor points, touching the detailed observance of these rules, will be learned in course of the school term.

RULES OF DISCIPLINE.

1) All students are required to attend the daily exercises of public worship. Catholic students are expected to approach the Sacraments once a month.

2) Upon the announcement of any University exercise, every student shall promptly and in silence repair to the discharge of that duty to which he is summoned.

3) The time of recreation excepted, silence is to be observed.

4) Students are expected to keep themselves and whatever they come in contact with, neat and clean.

5) Persons injuring desks, chairs, windows, walls or any property belonging to the University, are held responsible for damages.

6) Wearing apparel, such as hats, caps, scarfs, overcoats, overshoes, etc., will not be tolerated in the study hall nor on beds or within the dormitory, but in the cloak room or shoe-room destined for the purpose.

7) Students are not permitted to enter private rooms, nor other study halls than their own.

8) Students are not allowed to leave the prescribed University grounds without permission.

9) The use of tobacco in any form whatever is prohibited. Those, however, who furnish a written request from parents or guardians, are allowed to smoke at certain times and under certain restrictions.

10) Intoxicants are strictly prohibited. Students introducing them are subject to expulsion.

11) All mail matter is subject to inspection by the President or Vice President of the University.

12) Books, periodicals, papers, or pictures, of questionable morality, are not only prohibited, but will be confiscated and subject the holder to punishment. Students known to be guilty of immoral conduct or conversation are forthwith dismissed, as also those whose conduct is habitually not satisfactory.

Students are admonished to abstain from vulgar language and to conduct at all times pure and edifying conversation. They should endeavor to show due respect and obedience towards their superiors, and Christian charity and politeness towards each other. A few years would be spent to advantage at the University, if nothing else were learned but to converse and deport oneself with the dignity and propriety of a Christian gentleman.

Course of Studies.

The courses of study pursued at the University are the Ecclesiastical, Classical, Scientific and Commercial.

PREPARATORY COURSE.

This course was established to meet the exigencies of the times. Pupils below the age of 14, who are not sufficiently advanced to enter the Classical or Commercial course, are admitted into the Preparatory Department. The course of instruction embraces Christian Doctrine, Spelling, Reading, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Geography, and rudiments of English Grammar, and enables the pupil to acquire a solid foundation for the Commercial, Scientific or Classical Course. The pupils of this course, under the age of 14, are in a separate study hall. Boys less than 10 years of age will not be admitted except upon very special recommendation.

As many worthy men, especially of the farming community, whose early education has been neglected, frequently desire to put in a few of the winter months to acquire a knowledge of the elementary branches ordinarily taught in a preparatory department, we desire to call the attention of these, our farmer boys, to the facilities St. John's offers them, in the shape of a special class system in which individual instruction is given them in those branches in which they are most deficient. This is done to obviate their attendance in classes with the smaller boys and insures an advancement proportionate to their talents and application.

SCIENTIFIC COURSE.

This course is universally recognized as a splendid complement of a classical education and embraces Pure and Mixed Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Astronomy and Physical Geography. Students devoting themselves specially to any of these branches may also pursue a higher course in Languages. The classical and scientific courses may thus be pursued simultaneously.

A well furnished laboratory facilitates the study of the physical sciences and access is also granted to the physical cabinet, which contains valuable instruments for demonstration and numerous specimens from the mineral, vegetable and animal kingdoms.

In 1890 an observatory was fitted up on the summit of the reservoir located on the rising ground east of the University. The spacious cupola houses an equatorial telescope with a 4 inch achromatic lens, from the factory of Fauth & Co., Washington, D. C. During the past scholastic year the class in astronomy made many successful observations of astronomical phenomena.

A complete set of surveyors' instruments offers facilities to students of Civil Engineering.

COMMERCIAL COURSE.

The growing importance of this section of our State presses young men into active business life, and they must have ample facilities to obtain a thorough commercial education in the shortest time possible. The Faculty feel confident that they have amply provided for those who desire to qualify themselves for a practical business avocation.

The Commercial Course embraces:

Book-keeping,
Actual Business Practice,
Penmanship,
Commercial Arithmetic,
Grammar,
Commercial Law,
Commercial Correspondence,
Commercial Forms.

All these branches are taught in the Commercial Hall of the University. Instructions in Book-keeping are given to each student individually. Being independent of the progress of others, he can advance as rapidly as his attainments warrant. Students desiring to enter this course are required to pass a preliminary examination in reading, spelling, grammar and arithmetic, to the satisfaction of the Director of Studies and Principal of the Department. The branches above enumerated are obligatory in the course and must not be discontinued without the consent of the Principal.

The text books in use are Musselman's Practical Book-keeping, Clark's Commercial Law and Robinson's Complete Arithmetic. Three hours are daily devoted to Book-keeping proper. Commercial Arithmetic is taught in all its branches. An hour daily is devoted to this important study. Commercial Law is taught two hours and Correspondence one hour weekly.

A series of examinations must be successfully passed before graduation. An opportunity to make an examination is offered every Monday morning. The examinations will be given in the following order:

THEORY OF BOOK-KEEPING,
JOURNALIZING,
TRIAL BALANCE, ANALYSIS AND CLOSING LEDGER,
JOURNAL AND CASH BOOK,
ADVANCED JOURNALIZING,
SIX-COLUMN JOURNAL,
LUMBER SET,
HARDWARE SET,
WHOLESALE SET,
COMMISSION SALES BOOK,
SPELLING,
COMMERCIAL LAW, CORRESPONDENCE AND FORMS,
COMMERCIAL CALCULATIONS.

It cannot with any degree of certainty be determined in what time a student will be able to finish the course. He may advance as rapidly as his endowments permit and thus has an inducement to intense application.

All examinations must be made in writing. The grade required is 80 per cent. None of these examinations will be dispensed with.

As soon as the student has completed the requisite amount of theoretical work, he will be required to pursue at least one month of Actual Business practice. For this purpose a Bank and Emporium are established in connection with the Department. The student is fitted out with capital and stock and exercises himself in all the various transactions which he will encounter in business.

The period of time spent in this part of the work will be of eminent service of the student, as it supplements the theory in many important points. Merchandise, bills, notes, checks and drafts are handled and the learner becomes conversant with the details of the several transactions.

To further supplement and perfect the knowledge derived from text books, able jurists have offered their services. Judges L. W. Collins, D. B. Searle and Hon. F. E. Searle of St. Cloud have kindly volunteered to deliver lectures on Commercial Law and incident topics.

Upon the completion of the theoretical and practical course the successful student is entitled to the Diploma and degree of Master of Accounts. No diploma will be granted, however, to students whose conduct is not exemplary.

According to the practice adopted in 1890, Diplomas are issued on Commencement day only. Those who graduate during the schoolyear, will, at their departure from the institution be furnished with a Certificate of Graduation equivalent to a good recommendation. The institution reserves the right of retaining or concelling the Diploma in the event of discreditable conduct between the time of graduation and Commencement.

Besides the branches previously enumerated, another inducement not usually met with in business colleges, is offered. Commercial students may take up either the scientific or classical course without additional expense. For facilities as to extra classes, as phonography, typewriting and telegraphy, see "Special Courses of Studies."

The Faculty, satisfied that the facilities they offer are unsurpassed, respectfully invite business men and those intending to commence a business career to consider the opportunities which St. John's Commercial College presents; they purpose to prepare competent business men as quickly and cheaply as it can be done.

CLASSICAL COURSE.

This course is designed to impart a thorough knowledge of Languages, Ancient and Modern; of Geography, Physical, Political and Mathematical; of History Ancient and Modern; and of Mathematics Pure and and Mixed. French, Drawing, Painting, Phonography and Music are optional studies.

A solid classical training is the soul of a college education and no young man should fail to embrace this course before he devotes himself to any special branch of study. All promoters of higher education insist upon the necessity of classical training as the chief means of elevating the intellectual standard of the country.

The course embraces six years, at the expiration of which the student finds himself qualified to pursue an advanced course in preparation for any pursuit or for the sacred ministry. The classes are graded on Latin according to the following scheme.

Written examinations in all courses are required every month. At the end of each quarter — December, April and June — a resume is made of the quarterly work and the results embodied in a Bulletin, stating the percentage obtained in every branch and the rate of improvement. This, together with a report on Deportment and Application, is mailed to parents or guardians of students.

Students of the Classical Course may also pursue the study of the French language. The text used is Fasquelle. The various branches of the Scientific Course are also open to them, provided they are sufficiently advanced in the classics.

Special Courses of Studies.

TELEGRAPHY.

If not strictly a part of business education, yet a practical knowledge of Telegraphy secures an honorable position to many a young man. A thorough theoretical and practical knowledge of the art will be imparted as far as lies in the power of a school. Two sets of instruments are set up in the University and the details of telegraphing and office work are special objects of attention.

PHONOGRAPHY and TYPEWRITING.

The popularity of these branches as desirable requisites of clerks in the business community has induced us to offer proper facilities to such students as desire to perfect themselves in either branch. The type of instruments used for typewriting are the Remington, Smith Premier and Hammond with either Ideal or Universal keyboard. The instru . ents are furnished by the University. The system of Phonography is a modification of Gabelsberger. Either Munson's or Graham's system will be taught.

DRAWING and PAINTING.

Instruction in Drawing, Freehand and Architectural, is imparted from standard models. The department is furnished with a copious supply of Julien's crayon studies, colored studies for pastel, anatomical models, and casts from the antique.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

Students of the collegiate courses may pursue the study of the French language. Fasquelle's Grammar and Exercises are studied in the first year; Bossuet and Fenelon's Telemaque and selections from other standard authors, and composition form the work of the following two years.

English speaking students may acquire a knowledge of German and German students of English. Woodbury's text books are used.

Italian is also taught. Text: Italian Principia.

MUSIC.

This department offers first-class facilities. Professors of marked ability and high reputation teach its various branches. A well regulated Choir, a full Orchestra, a choice Quartette, and an excellently trained and well and favorably known Cornet Band of 24 instruments make this Department attractive for the lover of music.

Piano.—Eight instruments are devoted to this branch. Students practice in separate rooms and at special hours, and receive individual instruction at hours not interfering with the classes of the course to which they are assigned.

Violin.—Students are required to furnish their own instruments. Individual instruction is given as in Piano. If sufficiently advanced, students may enter the University Orchestra. Lessons will also be given on the Viola, Violincello and Bass.

This department offers, moreover, opportunities to practice on band instruments of every description, on the organ, guitar, cithern and flute.

GENERAL REGULATIONS AND REMARKS.

The Academic year consists of ten months, and is divided into two sessions. The first session begins in the first week of September and ends January 31st. The second session begins on the first of February and ends in the last week of June.

Students are admitted at any time of the schoolyear, but they consult their own interest who are present at the beginning, as they will have the benefit of an accurate examination, a precise classification and a fair start with their class fellows.

Pupils who enter after the 15th day of November, or who absent themselves for any notable time during the year or who do not return on the day appointed after the Christmas holidays, or who withdraw before the end of the year, have no claim to honors or distinctions for the Academic year.

Students will not be permitted to leave during the school year on visits of any length except at the Christmas holidays, and then only on the special request of their parents or guardians.

It has been decided not to close the Institution during the Easter holidays. Parents will therefore meet the wishes of the authorities by not recalling their children. The distraction of holidays spent abroad and irregular return to class work interferes with the work of the year.

Applicants for admission who have not attended another college, if not personally known to some member of the Faculty, must furnish a character certificate from some responsible person; those who have attended another college must produce papers showing their standing in the college they last attended.

After admission a student is examined, and classed according to his attainments. No branch of study can be discontinued without the consent of the Prefect of Studies.

From the foregoing it will be seen that the advantages in location, accomodations, etc., which St. John's University presents are unsurpassed. Thus St. John's is enabled to make the student's sojourn pleasant and homelike.

Various societies are formed during the scholastic year for practice in declamation, debate, dramatic acting etc. A large and choice library is at the disposal of students.

There are also several athletic clubs, such as Base Ball clubs, Boat clubs, etc., besides gymnastic perquisites, to encourage physical exercise.

Donations to library, museum and cabinet are solicited from friends of the University.

Parents and friends of students are welcome at the University at any time of the year, but it would be preferable to receive them on Wednesdays or Saturdays, because no disturbance is thus created in class work.

Parents are respectfully requested not to order a change in the programme of the studies of their children except after a consultation with the Prefect of Studies and upon his recommendation. The course of instruction is calculated to advance the students as rapidly as may be done in justice to their powers and intelligence, and promotion or alteration should be left to the judgment of the college authorities.

No specifications will be made as to clothing. Parents are expected to furnish their sons clothing of a quality their condition and means permit. The winters being severe, provisions should be made for warm and durable clothing. Articles of dress may be repaired by the tailor of the Institution at the student's expense.
